

Dr. Theresa Marie Lorenzo

Post-doctoral Fellow, Centre for Civil Society and Governance, The University of Hong Kong

Dr. Lorenzo's broad research interests lie in collaborative governance and resource management to ensure sustainable development, particularly in developing countries. Her doctoral dissertation analysed the impact of climate and economic change on the water security of municipalities in the Philippines. At present, her research focuses on the governance of different commons across the rural-urban spectrum in both Hong Kong and neighbouring countries.
